“Kamen is now producing one of the top cabernets in Sonoma.”

— ROBERT PARKER, THE WINE ADVOCATE, ISSUE 174

THE STORY

In 1980, Robert Mark Kamen found inspiration in 280 acres on the southwestern slopes of the Mayacamas Mountain Range in Sonoma. With the check from his first screenplay, Robert made a commitment to this very special and rugged property which has taken him on a thirty year journey that has culminated into a Hollywood screenwriter finding a second calling as a vintner. It was evident early on that this micro-climate possessed the potential for great vineyards.

Viticulturist Phil Coturri was introduced to the project and shared Robert’s philosophy of preserving the wildness of the site, implementing as little intervention as necessary. This rocky, steep terrain was formed by ancient volcanic activity and rests in the elevated southwestern slopes of Mt. Veeder; it was one of the first certified organic vineyards in California. Phil has also approached this virgin terrain with biodynamic sensibilities. The result . . . outstanding, limited production, terroir driven wines crafted by respected winemaker, Mark Herold.

THE VINTNER

Proprietor and vintner Robert Mark Kamen considers himself an accidental success. Growing up in a city housing project in the Bronx and earning a doctorate in American studies from the University of Pennsylvania, Robert believes everything happens for a reason—and yet nothing in his life was ever planned. His screenwriting career started quickly with the unexpected sale of his first screenplay and Robert has enjoyed an uninterrupted thirty year career producing twenty major motion pictures; among them: Taps, The Karate Kid series, The Fifth Element, The Professional, The Transporter series, A Walk in the Clouds, Lethal Weapon III and Taken, to name just a few. Robert’s Mayacamas Mountain vineyards are a muse for his bottled screenplay—Kamen Estate Wines.
